DAVID M. CORDANI PRESIDENT AND CHIEF EXECUTIVE OFFICER

In 2021, the COVID-19 pandemic continued to create a challenging environment around the globe, and Cigna continued stepping up to make a difference for our customers, clients, patients, partners and communities. We were guided by our mission to deliver health, well-being and peace of mind to those we serve.

Our mission also inspires our efforts to improve the sustainability of our current health care system. To that end, Cigna actively engages with policy makers in a principle-based, nonpartisan way. In Cigna's 2021 Political Contributions and Lobbying Activity Report, you'll find information about our engagement through political contributions and advocacy, including the annual report of the Cigna Political Action Committee (CignaPAC).

Cigna remains committed to promoting the health and vitality of those we serve. We will endeavor to drive positive change on their behalf by continuing to share our perspective and insights on making health care more affordable, predictable and simple.

OVERVIEW AND GOVERNANCE

Cigna takes its engagement in the legislative, regulatory and public policy areas very seriously, approaching all our efforts with care and integrity.

As Cigna engages in political activity, it adheres to strict governance standards designed to ensure alignment with Cigna's mission, values and strategic goal. All political contributions that are made directly by the Company must be made in accordance with the Political Activity Policy, which requires, among other things, oversight of decisions at the highest corporate level.

Political contributions that are made through CignaPAC are reviewed and approved by the CignaPAC Board of Directors, composed of executive-level Cigna leadership and other business leaders, in accordance with CignaPAC contribution guidelines.

With respect to the Company's lobbying activities, the Vice President of Global Public Policy and Federal Government Affairs and the Vice President of State Government Affairs report directly to the General Counsel and review lobbying efforts with Cigna's enterprise leadership, including the Chief Executive Officer, on a regular basis. Additionally, all memberships in trade associations are reviewed by the General Counsel and the Chief Executive Officer.

The Corporate Governance Committee of Cigna's Board of Directors has oversight of and evaluates any material risks associated with Cigna's corporate political spending and lobbying activities. In addition, the Corporate Governance Committee biannually reviews compliance with Cigna's Political Activity Policy, including the contributions made under that policy by the Company and CignaPAC during the previous year, and annually reviews lobbying expenses and trade association memberships.

There are two major components of Cigna's political activity:

1. Political contributions
2. Lobbying efforts

This report provides information on both of these activities.

POLITICAL CONTRIBUTIONS

Cigna regularly supports federal, state and local officials, candidates, parties, and other politically oriented groups and organizations that the Company believes can advance its mission, business objectives and goals, including principles or issues that support Cigna's vision for a sustainable health care system. As Cigna considers making political contributions, it is always guided by the Company's mission, values and strategy, demonstrating an eagerness to work with officials of various political and philosophical beliefs and without regard for the private political preferences of its executives.

Cigna makes political contributions in two ways: (1) through corporate contributions and (2) through CignaPAC. Cigna has strict standards in place governing its political giving activity, and all its contributions are made in accordance with applicable state and federal laws. In addition, the Company keeps the work of CignaPAC separate from other Company giving. Accordingly, this section of the report provides information specific to Cigna's direct corporate contributions, and the CignaPAC Annual Report at the end of this document provides contribution details for disbursements made through CignaPAC.

All of Cigna's government relations engagements, including political contributions, are intended to be constructive and nonpartisan with an aim to advancing public policies that we believe support the greater societal good of a more affordable, predictable and simple health care system for all patients and communities. Cigna also stands for diversity, inclusion, equity and equality; our public policy activities are an extension of that commitment.

CORPORATE CONTRIBUTIONS

Cigna also contributed $25,000 to Invest in STLCC in support of a ballot measure that would benefit St. Louis Community College. Cigna did not make any independent expenditures in 2021.

LOBBYING ACTIVITY AND PRIORITIES

Cigna's Federal and State Government Affairs and Global Public Policy teams lead Cigna's engagement in complex policy matters while maintaining the company's commitment to being a thoughtful and constructive participant in public dialogues around the world. Members of the team represent Cigna's business interests in the U.S. Congress, the Executive Branch, and with national thought leaders, trade associations and state legislatures to advance constructive solutions that we believe will achieve the goals of affordable, quality coverage for all Americans.

Every American deserves access to affordable, quality health care. It is a critical time for us to constructively engage in meaningful and sustained advocacy to help improve the American health care system to be more affordable, predictable and simple for all those we serve. As debates on health care continue and the country continues to fight the COVID-19 pandemic, we remain committed to addressing today's dynamic health care environment through active, nonpartisan engagement with policy makers.

In 2021, Cigna focused its advocacy efforts on addressing barriers to affordability, access and flexibility for patients, employers and providers as a result of the COVID-19 pandemic; expanding the employer-based market's ability to provide value-based health coverage; aligning incentives and information around patients to help support their health care and value-based care decisions; growing opportunities for public-private partnerships; and ensuring policies enable a more integrated, equitable service model along with whole-person health.

We support proposals that put individuals at the center of health care delivery and those that address underlying cost drivers of health care that continue to grow at unsustainable levels. In 2021, we were highly engaged in the regulatory process to implement the No Surprises Act, federal legislation to prohibit surprise medical bills. The regulations establish critically important market reforms to prevent patients from receiving surprise bills and ensure that any out-of-network payment disputes are weighted heavily toward median prices in local markets. In Congress, we successfully advocated for a three-year delay of the Medicare Part D rebate rule, which, if implemented, would have significantly increased premiums for Medicare Part D enrollees. A full repeal of the rule is currently under consideration in Congress.

Cigna is also engaged with Congress and the Biden administration to advance health equity efforts, reflecting the company's commitment to expand and accelerate our efforts to support diversity, equity, equality and inclusion for communities of color across the company and the communities we serve. The Biden administration is factoring health equity into every health care policy and program under consideration, and Cigna's investments to develop and test measurable interventions and increase cultural competency across the company have positioned us to drive deeper public-private partnership in this area.

Cigna spent $9.14 million on federal lobbying expenses and approximately $3.88 million on state lobbying expenses. Cigna complies with the requirements of the Lobbying Disclosure Act of 1995 (LDA) that govern disclosure of federal lobbying expenses. Cigna also complies with the requirements of state laws relevant to state lobbying expenses and disclosure reporting.

TRADE ASSOCIATION MEMBERSHIPS

While Cigna recognizes that many of the trade associations in which it participates have broad memberships with sometimes differing views, the Company believes that such organizations can encourage dialogue on important policy issues, ultimately helping to advance industry solutions. Cigna also believes that to be effective and informed, it is important to constructively engage differing perspectives. Active participation in industry-related trade associations is one of the ways in which Cigna engages in public policy and legislative issues.

Because of the breadth and depth of trade association views on key health care issues, Cigna believes memberships in these organizations are generally consistent with the Company's interests, including those of its shareholders and customers.

Certain dues paid to these organizations may be used to support lobbying activity. In 2021, Cigna was a member of the following industry trade associations with more than $50,000 in annual dues and a percentage attributable to lobbying activity.

Organization	2021 Annual Dues*	Portion Allocated to Nondeductible Lobbying Expenses
America's Health Insurance Plans	$2,500,000	42%

*Annual dues do not include supplemental dues or special assessments.

CignaPAC ANNUAL REPORT

ABOUT CignaPAC

CignaPAC is Cigna's federal political action committee, a separate, segregated fund established and operated by Cigna, that is funded entirely by voluntary contributions from eligible employees and regulated by federal and/or state governments. Cigna has also established separate but related state political action committees in Missouri (Cigna MO PAC) and New York (Cigna NY PAC), which are referenced collectively in this report as CignaPAC unless otherwise noted.

CignaPAC financially supports the election campaigns of candidates who share our views on policy issues, represent areas of geographic importance or meet other criteria deemed appropriate by the CignaPAC Board of Directors. It also engages in the process by supporting national and state party committees, as well as other political action committees and organizations.

CignaPAC is committed to transparency regarding its activities. Cigna obeys all laws in promoting its positions to government authorities, and all contributions made by CignaPAC comply with all applicable campaign finance regulations.

BOARD OVERSIGHT

CignaPAC is governed by the CignaPAC Board of Directors, which oversees contributions made with CignaPAC funds. CignaPAC makes political contributions pursuant to the approval process and in accordance with CignaPAC Articles of Organization. Proposed CignaPAC contributions are reviewed in advance and approved by the CignaPAC Board of Directors.

CignaPAC CONTRIBUTION STRATEGY

In alignment with Cigna’s mission and values, CignaPAC supports candidates who advance public policies that will help realize a more affordable, equitable and predictable health care system for all Americans. CignaPAC considers a variety of criteria in funding decisions, such as committee assignments and leadership positions; geographic concentration of Cigna employees in a district or state; key business markets; candidates’ views on specific or emerging business issue(s); and candidates’ viability. In addition, some considerations are so foundational that they transcend all matters of public policy. CignaPAC’s contribution strategy reflects Cigna’s commitment to our values and, accordingly, CignaPAC will not support any elected official who encourages or supports violence or discrimination in any form. These criteria guide our decision-making to ensure we remain steadfast to our values and drive forward our vision of affordable, predictable and simple health care solutions for those we serve. CignaPAC does not participate in presidential primary or general election contests.

Set forth on the following pages are the political contributions made in 2021 by CignaPAC, Cigna MO PAC and Cigna NY PAC.
